

[Short BIO]

Dr Raj Patel, Consultant in Sexual Health and HIV Medicine Solent NHS Trust

University of Southampton, UK

Dr Raj Patel completed his undergraduate and postgraduate studies in Medicine, Sexual Health and HIV Medicine in Sheffield and London. He was appointed to his current position of Consultant Physician for Genitourinary and HIV Medicine at the Southampton University Hospitals in 1993. He also holds a Senior Lecturer appointment in the Department of Medicine at the University of Southampton. His major clinical and research interests are the management of genital herpes infections. He has published widely in this area including a number of pivotal trials extending the usefulness of therapy.

He is a Past President of IUSTI World, a founding member of the IUSTI Europe Guidelines Group and the Current IUSTI Representative to the ECDC. He was awarded the Gollow Lectureship in 2012, The IUSTI World Gold Medal (2013), and was the first medical recipient of the Master's Medal of the Society of Apothecaries of London. He holds Honorary Fellowships of the Medical Society of Sweden, The Academy of Family Physicians of Malaysia and the Guild of Russian STI Specialists. He is a member of the Estonia USTI.